Audience: All Saskatchewan Users

Purpose: To inform Industry that adjustments have been made to volumetric errors VME0041, VME0042 and VME0010

Background:

Effective December production month (2019-12), Energy and Resources has adjusted the trigger for volumetric errors VME0041, VME0042 and VME0010. The volumetric errors will now trigger for either a well or a facility, depending on the facility subtype, if the activity type of production (PROD) or storage recovery (STREC) is not reported for the product groups of GAS or SOLVENT. A penalty is still being applied for the VME0010 and VME0042 errors.

VME0041

Message: Production or recovery of the GAS or SOLVENT product group must be reported when oil production greater than 15m3 has been reported at an oil well in a production month.

Details: Production or recovery of the GAS or SOLVENT product group has not been reported and oil production is [OIL PROD VOLUME FOR THE WELL COMPLETION] for well [WELL COMPLETION ID].

VME0042

Message: Production or recovery of the GAS or SOLVENT product group must be reported when oil production greater than or equal to 50.0 m3 has been reported at an oil well in a production month.

Details: Production or recovery of the GAS or SOLVENT product group has not been reported and oil production is [OIL PROD VOLUME FOR THE WELL COMPLETION] for well [WELL COMPLETION ID].

VME0010

Message: Production or recovery of the GAS or SOLVENT product group must be reported when total oil production is greater than or equal to 50.0 m3 has been reported at a crude oil or heavy crude oil facility in a production month.

Details: Production or recovery of the GAS or SOLVENT product group has not been reported and the total oil production is [OIL PROD VOLUME FOR THE FACILITY] for facility [FACILITY ID].
