

Statute Barred Rejection Indicators/Messages on Petrinex

Jurisdiction	Release/Revision Date	Location of Change in this Document	Comment
AB	July 14, 2023	As part of a cleanup project for older/outdated tips, this tip has been updated. These updates are not meant to change the intent of the original tip, however updated to current state
AB	Apr 4/23		General update
AB	Dec 6/07		Initial Release

Audience: All AB Petrinex Users

Purpose: This tip is to remind users of the Petrinex notification regarding Statute Barred rejections occurring within the Department of Energy and Minerals (AEM) systems.

Key Principles:

The AEM's Gas Royalty rules for Statute Barred, effective production year 2015, state a production year is to be Statute Barred on December 31st three years after that production year has ended. For example, after December 31, 2022 all data for the year 2019 became Statute Barred. Unless the AEM gives prior approval, a valid submission made on Petrinex commencing January 1, 2023 for 2019 production will be rejected by the AEM and will not be included for Gas crown royalty calculation purposes, even though it has been accepted by Petrinex.

When a new submission is made in Petrinex (via Batch or Online) for a production month related to a Statute Barred year, the user receives the following warning message:

CME0012 Reported production month [yyyy-mm] is in a Gas royalty “Statute Barred” year. The submission may not be used in the determination of gas royalty.

The AEM will receive the submission and either accept or reject the data for Gas Royalty calculation purposes. If the submission was subsequently rejected by the AEM, when querying the applicable Petrinex screens the following message is displayed.

CME0013 This submission has been rejected by Gas Royalty as the production period identified is in a Gas Royalty Statute Barred year. Please contact your DOE Gas

TIP

Royalty Client Services representative for further information. Rejected on [dd/mm/yyyy time]

The significance of this message is that it alerts users to volumetric, allocation or RGA submissions that were accepted by Petrinex but subsequently rejected by the AEM. Thus, if the intent was for the submission to relate to Gas Royalty calculation purposes, the user will be alerted that they need to contact AEM.

Timing of Messages:

As this notification is initially generated within the AEM, the timing of its placement on Petrinex is subject to AEM processing rules. The following can serve as a guideline:

Allocations SAF & OAF – maximum 2 business days after initial submission.

Volumetrics – maximum 2 business days after initial submission.

RGA updates – maximum ½ day turnaround during business days otherwise the next business day.

Note: During the AEM Gas Royalty Invoice Cycle, indicated on the AB Monthly Reporting Calendars, no notifications will be generated until after the cycle has completed
